HARMONY U.F.W.A. HOLD MEETING

(Too late for last week)
Harmony U.F.W.A. met on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Earl Prior with a good attendance of members and guests.
Arrangements were made for holding a joint meeting at Avonlea school on Saturday, Oct. 20, at 2 p.m., when Avonlea U.F.W.A. are invited guests.

Mrs. Shotts read the book review, Mrs. Prother rendered several violin solos, Mrs. Scott gave a very interesting paper on Halloween and Miss Elsie Scott kindly read the monthly bulletin, the subject this month being Education.

The hosts, assisted by Mrs. McCreadie and Mrs. Earl Guy served a most delicious lunch of salads, sandwiches, cake and coffee and tea, and a pleasant social hour was spent over the tea cups.

The next meeting of Harmony local will be held the second Thursday in November at the home of Mrs. Marshall.

Miss Bates spent the week-end at her home.

Harmony juniors will hold the next meeting the second Saturday in November at 2 p.m., at Avonlea school.

Harmony juniors held the October meeting on Saturday with 16 members present. President Lyle Scott called the meeting to order. Marion Carrington, secretary - treasurer, called the roll which was responded to with a description of some Halloween tricks. Norman Scott gave a recitation, Miss Lucy Thompson a harmonica solo and Miss Annie Walker a reading, which were all greatly enjoyed. Miss Loretta Stewart led in P. T. and a lively game of dodge ball followed. The Misses Carrington and Shotts were hostesses and served a delicious lunch which was an enjoyable feature after the exercises of the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Lukin, Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Riddle and Mr. and Mrs. S. M. New were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Shotts on Monday evening, when Mr. Timbers and Mr. Pillon served a super health meal, after which Mr. Timbers (a close friend of the Shotts family) gave a health lecture which was most interesting and educational. Any person having the opportunity of hearing Mr. Timbers' health talk should not miss hearing the many facts pertaining to the diet, etc., which he has to tell you.

A three-course dinner was served, everything except the rice being cooked without water or salt and if

Irma Old Timer Passes Away

The village of Irma and district was greatly saddened last Tuesday evening, October 23, when it was learned that Mr. George N. C. Higginson had met an accidental death on his farm five miles north-east of Irma.

Although he had been in failing health for about two months, his death came as a great shock to his family and the community.

Mr. Higginson was sixty years of age last February and was one of the earliest homesteaders in the Irma district, having commenced his duties when the G.T.P. bridge over the Battle river was being built. For a time he was employed by the G.T.P. engineers, and since then he has carried on farming operations at his old location.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife and two daughters, Elizabeth who is training for a nurse in the Royal Alexandra hospital in Edmonton, and Marion attending public school in Irma. He also leaves a brother, Albert, in Edmonton, and two sisters in Ontario. Another brother, Fred, pre-deceased him about seven months ago.

The funeral service is being held in Irma on October 26th.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to those bereaved.

W. Beschell, Kinsella District Pioneer, Passes

Wincence Beschell, of Kinsella, passed away at the Viking hospital on October 17th, from an illness of some years' duration. He was 76 years of age at the time of his death. Funeral services were held from the Kinsella United church on Friday, October 19th, and were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Griffiths, who delivered a comforting message and spoke feelingly of the passing of another pioneer of the district. Burial took place in the Kinsella cemetery. A large gathering of friends and neighbors were present at the services to pay their last respects to one who had lived and worked among them for many years. The pall bearers were, Messrs. F. Hajek, J. Hajek, J. Smith, D. Corbett, J. Zelinski and F. Murray.

The deceased leaves to mourn his loss his wife, three daughters, Mrs. John Falter, Erie, Pa.; Mrs. Frank Thompson, Fabyan; Mrs. Orville Smith, Nanperran, Man.; seven sons, Frank and Vincent, Bremner, Alta.; Ferdinand, Killam; Joseph, John, Fred and Ernest, of Kinsella, also four grandsons and four granddaughters.

A beautiful array of floral tributes were received from, wife and family; Frank, Louie, Vince and children; Mrs. McKie and family; Mr. and Mrs. J. Haek; Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Wangers;

Meeting Endorses C. G. Purvis as Liberal Nominee Camrose Federal

At a well attended meeting of the Viking-Bruce-Kinsella Liberal Association held in the town hall Wednesday evening, C. G. Purvis, barrister of Viking, was unanimously endorsed as candidate for the nomination as Liberal standard bearer at the Camrose Federal Liberal nominating convention to be held at Camrose on November 16th.

Members and friends from Holden, Viking, Bruce, Kinsella and Killam districts were present and were enthusiastic in the work of supporting Mr. Purvis at the convention.

Mr. Purvis consented to letting his name go before the convention and spoke of the need of getting delegates to Camrose. He also felt that with such enthusiastic support that the outlook was very bright.

Considerable routine business was transacted before the meeting closed.

J. W. Stambaugh, of Bruce, occupied the chair.

ness; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Williams and family; and Frank Williams.

The late Mr. Beschell was born in Austria April 12th, 1858, and died on October 17th, 1934. During his early manhood he served in the Austrian army for 11 years, taking part in the Turkish war. He emigrated to the U.S.A. where he resided for sixteen years, coming to Killam, Alberta, in 1906. The following year he took up a homestead near Kinsella, where he and his family have made their home ever since. His passing has removed another of those sturdy pioneers who blazed the trails in the early days of this province, and his demise is not only mourned and felt by the immediate members of the family, but by a host of old-time friends in the district.

Sympathy is extended by the community to the bereaved relatives.

United Church Notes

The services next Sunday will be at Albert, Alma Mater and Irma at the usual hours. The pastor, Rev. J. R. Gieson, will be in charge and the sermon topic is "The Gospel and the Church."

The anniversary services will be held on Sunday, Nov. 4th. The Rev. A. S. Tuttle, M.A., D.D., principal of St. Stephen's College and president of the Alberta Conference, will be the special preacher. Dr. Tuttle is an outstanding preacher, and it is an unusual privilege for us to have him. We trust that large congregations will greet Dr. Tuttle both in town and country. The usual anniversary supper will be held on Monday, followed by a public meeting which will be addressed by Rev. H. Dobson, B.A., D.D., Associate Secretary of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service. We remember the remarkable addresses he gave two years ago and we are anticipating a great treat. No one should miss hearing these church leaders. We give a cordial invitation to all friends to share with us in this anniversary occasion.

PETER MILNE NOMINATED IN WAINWRIGHT

Wainwright, Oct. 23.—At one of the largest and most enthusiastic conventions held in Wainwright in recent years Peter Milne, of Edgerton, was nominated to contest the Wainwright constituency in the next provincial election.

Altogether four candidates were nominated and it was only on the third ballot that Mr. Milne was declared winner.

In addition to Mr. Milne the following were nominated: E. A. Pitman, of Chauvin; R. J. A. Roberts, of Wainwright; and E. E. Lang, of Chauvin. On the first ballot Roberts was eliminated and on the second Lang was dropped, leaving the contest to Milne and Pitman. On the third and deciding ballot the delegates in attendance duly declared their choice and the nomination of Milne was made unanimously on a motion by Pitman.

At the conclusion of the balloting the meeting proceeded with the election of officers: E. A. Pitman was elected president, Dr. H. C. Wallace of Wainwright, vice-president, with W. R. Howson honorary president. The following to constitute the executive: E. B. Lang, W. J. Cubitt, Charles Moore, L. F. Burns, W. Goulet, H. Messier, Dr. C. Greenberg and J. Donahue, with J. A. McKensie continuing as secretary-treasurer.

Howson Speaks

A public meeting was held in the theatre in the evening which was filled to capacity. In an inspiring address W. R. Howson, provincial leader, pointed out some of the problems of the youth of Alberta and enlarged upon a solution of these problems.

Mr. Howson also spoke at some length on the constructive resolutions submitted by the Liberal members, particularly dealing with the basic industry of agriculture.

Other speakers included the Honorable Charles Stewart, who touched

SPORT PEEPS

The biggest event in the sport world this last week was the air race from England to Australia. The prizes offered were not to be sneezed at for the first prize was $50,000.00, with several minor rewards of $10,000 or so. The racers in their mechanical birds flew at a terrific pace, some to meet death and destruction; others to fame and fortune. Man has at last beaten the fastest bird that ever lived on the earth.

In the tennis tournament at the University, the Viking collegians made a fine showing against the high class talent assembled at the halls of learning. Bob and Maxine Darrah failed to finish with the pennant this year, though they made their opponents step lively all the time to edge out the victory. And last reports on the men's doubles showed Don Collier and Bob Darrah holding one set won from Stark and partner, with darkness forcing another set the following day. Viking has good reason to be proud of their players.

At Toronto a six-day bike race is in progress this week, with three-men teams taking turns at pushing the machine. The crowds get a great kick out of these contests, for the riders set a pace that makes the spectator's head swim. The bicycles are unbelievably light, weighing no more than what a man would wear on a winter's day. Yet with this contraption a man can multiply his mileage sixteen times or so, the riders covering some 400 miles a day, whereas 25 is a fair journey for any man walking.

Pictures of those football players with one foot soaring into the clouds makes one think they must be made of rubber, or the camera set at an angle that causes an optical illusion. If those fellows can kick like that, even the flies on the ceiling would not be safe.

For the first time since 1928 the football boys of the University of Alberta have shown enough class to win the Alberta championship. It takes brains as well as brawn to win in rugby, and this year the team of parchment hunters worked with a smooth powerful combination that overcame all opposition. Rugby holds the chief interest at universities all over this continent. It is a strenuous group game, that has unusual appeal.

Eddie Wenstob Wins Over St. Paul Boxer

Smashing Lee Savoldi of St. Paul, Minn., to the canvas nine times in the last five rounds, Eddie Wenstob, the "Viking Flash" was finally awarded the bout on a technical knockout when Referee Miles Palmer stepped in and stopped hostilities in the eighth round. The two men met in the main event on Promoter Michael "Kap" Kaplansky's professional fight card at the New Empire theatre Friday night.

Savoldi was obviously in distress when the battle ended. With plenty of courage he faced the charging, milling Wenstob. Time and again he was battered to the canvas and always, even at the last, he was coming up and asking for more. The fight fans were about evenly divided in their support of the two youngsters. Wenstob, repeatedly warned for fouling, was apparently unaware of any wrong-doing.

Wenstob who has plenty to learn but gives every indication of being a very apt student and certainly a most willing one, was, as usual, inclined to be a trifle over-anxious and he lost some points in the scoring for hitting in the break-aways. Twice during the bout Savoldi landed with right hand hooks that shook the Viking boy back on his heels and Wenstob was badly hurt. But the same as Savoldi, he never backed up. He carried on his usual campaign, taking it and handing it out.

Johnny Blochinger, an Edmonton boy, won the decision over George Scott of Viking. Scott several times appeared to be in a bad way, but Blochinger didn't seem to have what it took to finish him off, although he had Scott on the verge of a knock-out. It was Blochinger's first professional bout here. He is a former amateur welterweight champion. — Journal.

Geo. P. Smith, former minister of education in the provincial government during the Stewart regime, was in this town and district the past few days. His name will go before the Liberal convention to be held at Camrose on November 16th as a likely candidate to contest the election in the federal riding of Camrose. Mr. Smith left Camrose some thirteen years ago to accept a position at Hamilton, Ontario, with a large manufacturing firm, and returned to Camrose this summer and has again thrown his hat in the political ring.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor Nelligan, of Edmonton, preached a three day mission in St. Carmel church, beginning on Sunday, October 21st, and closing on Tuesday evening. All the exercises of the mission were very well attended, the parishioners following with marked attention the words of the speaker who is one of the outstanding preachers of the Archdiocese of Edmonton. This is the Monsignor's second visit to the district, as he conducted Forty Hours' Devotions in both Viking and Prague earlier in the year. Monsignor Nelligan holds the important position of Vicar General of the Archdiocese.

Feel That They're Slipping
Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people 'round 40 think they're "growing old." They feel tired a lot... "weak." Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all!

on the road to recovery. That the Empire is unmistakably better off than the rest of the world is striking proof of the success of British methods. South Africa, thanks partly to the gold boom, is so prosperous that it is settling in full its war debt of $8,000,000 to Britain, whose taxpayers will benefit. New Zealand, profiting from the improvement in the wool market, due to great purchasing power in Britain, has its budget surplus for many years. Australia's finances are healthy from the same cause. Canada, which has necessarily shared the misfortunes of the U.S.A., is now more prosperous than its great neighbor, and begins to share the good fortunes of its sister nations. Once more a world crisis has tested the bonds of Empire and has ended by strengthening them. The value of close association was never more apparent. Sir Edgeworth David Blew Up Mes-sines Ridge In 1917

Sir Edgeworth David, the famous geologist, the first man to reach the south magnetic pole, died in Sydney (Australia), aged 76. He was born in Wales. Sir Edgeworth was scientific officer with the Shackleton expedition in 1907-9. In 1915, although 57, he went to France on active service as a sapper. He rose rapidly to the rank of lieutenant-colonel, becoming geologist to the British Armies on the Western Front. He it was who planned the blowing up of Mes-sines Ridge on June 7, 1917, thus preparing the way for the British advance. He made millions for Australia through his discovery of minerals.

Only One Drawback

Johannesburg People Do Not Like Cattle Roaming On Streets

Johannesburg, it is almost superfluous to remark, is a very progressive city. We knew this for ourselves and even if we didn't, there are plenty of tactful and discerning visitors who come here and tell us so. So rapid, in fact, is our advance, that Professor Coulter, of the U.S.A., was made to feel like Rip Van Winkle on revisiting us after only five years' absence. We have, he tells us, "an integrated communal machine, a group co-operating various agencies, a long-time plan, a city social-conscious, dynamically interested, with a clear-cut purpose." He might have added that we also have a system which permits horned cattle to run loose in the principal streets. Very few modern cities can say the same.—Johannesburg Times.

When Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of mammals and reptiles at the Bronx Zoo, New York, returned from Trinidad with a living specimen of the bushmaster, deadly tropical snake he had hunted for a quarter of a century he intimated the struggle was over.

But the bushmaster is slowly going the way of his three bushmaster predecessors in the last 35 years at the zoo. He won't eat, he hasn't taken a morsel since he was caught. The freshly killed rats which Dr. Ditmars hopefully tosses into him every two or three days are spurned. So is every other choice tid-bit on the menu for bushmasters.

Will Take Referendum

To Test Great Britain's Traditional Policy Of Splendid Isolation

"Great Britain's will for or against her traditional policy of splendid isolation" shortly will be tested by a thorough referendum conducted by the League of Nations reunion.

Each citizen will be invited to answer five questions as follows:

Should Great Britain remain a member of the League of Nations?

Are you in favor of a general reduction of armaments by international agreement?

Are you in favor of general abolition of national air forces by international agreement?

Ought the manufacture and sale of armaments for private profit to be banned by international agreement?

If one nation is resolved to attack another, do you believe that the other powers ought to force that nation to renounce its designs, either by non-military economic measures, or, if needs be, by military measures?

The Daily Express some time ago conducted a straw vote, the outcome of which supported the newspaper's stand favoring a British isolationist policy.

The present semi-official referendum is intended to prove the contrary. Its backers contend that the results of the other vote were inconclusive because the questions were put in a very elementary fashion.

In June, 1931, another bombing attempt was unsuccessful.

A year later—in May, 1932—the King's palace was bombed.

THE TENDERFOOT

By GEORGE B. RODNEY

Author of "The Coronado Trail",
"The Canyon Trail", Etc.

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen heir to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

But Keene decided to go see what was happening for himself—not as Gerald Keene, half owner of the Hour-Glass Ranch, but as Duro Stone, tenderfoot in a Montgomery Ward westward outfit.

Dad Kane, desert rat and huckster prospector till now, is returning to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, owners of the Broken Spur ranch, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of the ore. He sees Broken Spur men rustling Hour-glass cattle and protects against it.

Joe Carr's daughter, Edith, repulses Dustin when he wished to make her acquaintance, saying when she walked with a man, it would not be with a squaw man. She plans revenge, but has had no opportunity so far. Affairs on the ranch going from bad to worse, Joe Carr takes to drink.

(Now Go On With The Story)

Somehow the Broken Spur always found a market. Broken Spur cattle were shipped periodically to California to be fattened to bring the highest prices in a falling market while the Hour-glass could not pay its freight bills for such shipments. Poor old Joe Carr saw the Hour-glass go to pieces under his once able hands and he sought in vain for the reason. That suit over Soda Springs was the last straw.

"I know damned well they've been robbing us deaf, dumb and blind," he snapped to his Crewe, his foreman. "But I can't prove it. What can I do? There's nothin' I can do, Frank."

"Huh. You might try leavin' the cork in that whisky bottle for a change," said Crewe, who was not inaptly named Frank. Carr cursed him and on that occasion left the cork in the bottle.

"I wish to God I could get track of that young fellow Gerald Keene," went on Carr fretfully. "You know how old Peter Vinton left the Hour-glass. Half to me and half to him if one of us dies, the other gets the half of the one an hour ago. Funny way to leave a ranch. Nobody can find young Keene. Nobody knows his address. I've been runnin' into the red ink right along by borrowin' cash to finance the Hour-glass for the last few years. I've been doin' it on my own responsibility. It ain't right that he shouldn't pay his share."

"Listen here, Joe... Crewe wheeled on his employer. "I've known you for a lifetime as men count years. As a cattle-man nobody can teach you a thing about the business. As a distiller you ain't much but as a steady consumer of bottled goods you ought to have a gold medal. No use blinkin' facts that're right face up on the table. It's liquor that's helped put the ranch in the red... Red liquor. It might have happened anyhow but I know it helped a bad matter to git worse. It's time somebody's tellin' you."

Carr began a futile protest but Crewe cut him short.

"You'd never have got into that card game in the Silver Dollar but for red liquor. That game cost you ten thousand and you know it. You'd never have tried runnin' a horse for the Coahuila Sweepstakes if you hadn't been so full you couldn't hit the ground with your hat. Then you made a bet you'd win it and when you sobered up you wouldn't even hedge. A cattleman's got no business runnin' a horse except at the end of his rope. You know it when you're sober, too. That's what makes me so damned hot."

"I was tryin' to win back what I'd lost," said Carr.

"Hell, man! I know that. A fat chance you had of winnin'. Three strangers settin' in the game an' you with the only roll in town with Spike Goddard attin' in the game and a bar mirror behind you that you never even saw till too late. Man, you were apkin' for trouble."

"Well, I got it all right at that. Listen here, Frank. Is there any way I can locate this man Gerald Keene? Can't you think of some way?"

"Simon Burwell of the Drovers Bank in Cato handled the ranch's business didn't he? Better write to him. What's the trouble, Joe?"

"Money," said Carr hoarsely. "I need money, Frank, and that's a fact."

"Can't you borrow enough at the Seco bank to tide you over? Old Pegram, the president there, ought to help you."

"Hell, man! It's old Icehouse Pegram I want to pay. They're yellin' over some 'back interest' that, I haven't been able to pay. I borrowed eleven thousand from Pegram on my personal note and I haven't been able to pay him the interest. It's about eleven hundred odd."

Crewe whistled. Eleven thousand at ten per cent. (and Texas allows a ten per cent. rate) meant that old Joe had borrowed about all he could on his share of the ranch at prevailing rates in the money market. No wonder Joe was worried. No wonder he drank a little. Crewe suddenly made up his mind that never again would he criticize a man till he knew all of both sides of the question.

"That's bad," he said evenly. "But I mean how much is the total you owe?"

Joe Carr slung up a pair of tired hands that looked suddenly old and frail.

"A damned sight more'n I've got or can raise," he said. "But if that damned Broken Spur'd keep their thievin' hands off me I could yet come clear I think."

"Well, they won't," said Crewe. "This suit over Soda Springs shows they mean to drive you to the wall. That suit'll cost you ten thousand in court fees. If they lose they can't pay... or won't. It'll all come back on us... You... Why not talk with Dustin over the matter?"

"Over an ivory front sight," snarled Carr. "That's the only way I'll talk to him. See if you can't find out where I can get in touch with Gerald Keene. He owns half the ranch. He might help."

But all attempts to find Gerald Keene had failed and at times old Joe doubted whether such a person really existed.

"I don't know what to make of it," growled Crewe, "tramping the floor. The man has just dropped out of sight. Nobody knows where he is or even where he used to live."

"And to-day I was notified that old Pegram wants some definite action taken on my note," said Carr. "That means pay. How in hell can I?"

Crewe whistled again.

"It looks like they've got you by the short hairs," he growled. "If they crowd you, what'll you do?"

"Good God! What can I do?" demanded Carr miserably. He remembered old days when a mere verbal assurance that he would pay would have satisfied the bank but Pegram knew nothing of those days. "I'm too old to start all over again," he said wretchedly. "I can't do it, Frank. Too, there's Edith to be thought of."

There had always been Edith and old Joe Carr had never ceased to think of her though his thoughts were not always sober ones. Crewe could not help reflecting sanely that a few hours of thought about Edith at the proper time would have prevented much of the present trouble. But he only said:

"There seems to be only the off chance that we may find this man Gerald Keene. Still... Even then I ain't too sure he'd help much. You can hardly expect a man to shoulder half the debts you've incurred on your own sole responsibility. Men don't buy dead horses as a rule."

"Huh. His uncle Peter Vinton would have done it..." Carr was desperate. "Peter and me was partners when it meant somethin' to back a man's play. There ain't much hope, even if we find this man Gerald Keene, that he could or would help much but as far as I can see, Frank, it's our only chance. If we can find him, he might be willing to help us out for the full ownership of the Hour-glass. What do you think?"

"Looks to me like you're aberrant," said Crewe. "Our best hope is to find Gerald Keene."

CHAPTER IV.

"I'm still a-waitin' to hear you tell me how you plan to bring that red-headed girl of Joe Carr's to heel."

Spike Goddard poured himself a generous drink and eyed Dustin quizzically across his glass. Dustin continued to stare at him. Words finally came.

"There's a lot more than any girl in this now. You poor fool! Can't you see as far as the end of your nose? Don't you see the mess we're in? Dad Kane knows enough of what Corse and Gray were doin' up in the hills to put you and me both behind the bars for ten years..."

Now... new aid in PREVENTING Colds

Remarkable New Formula is Especially Designed for Nose and Upper Throat where most colds start

AFTER years of research on the problem of colds, Vicks Chemists have developed a remarkable new preparation—Vicks Va-tro-nol. This exclusive Vicks formula is especially designed to aid the functions which Nature has provided—in the nose—to prevent colds, or to throw them off in their early stages. Used at the very first feeling of nasal irritation—just a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol helps to avoid many colds altogether.

Relieves Head Colds at Every Stage

If irritation has reached the stuffy, sneezy stage—Nature's usual warning that a cold is developing—prompt use of Va-tro-nol helps to throw it off in the early stages.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Va-tro-nol penetrates deep into the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears away clogging mucus—brings welcome relief.

Va-tro-nol is real medication—not mere "oil drops"—yet is absolutely safe for children and adults. It has been clinically tested by physicians—approved by specialists.

Easy to use, anytime or place—at home or at work. Keep a bottle always handy.

Introduces Vicks Colds-Control Plan

This new aid in preventing colds is the ideal companion to Vicks VapoRub (modern external treatment for colds). Together with certain simple rules of health, these two preparations form the new Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Records of thousands of clinical tests—made over a period of two years, and under medical supervision—indicate that Vicks Plan greatly reduced the number, duration and dangers of colds. (Full details of the Plan in each package of Vicks VapoRub and Vicks Va-tro-nol.)

Social Credit Plan

Mrs. Rogers and Mr. Unwin, of Calgary, addressed a small gathering of people in the Elks hall on Saturday evening on the subject of Social Credit.

Mrs. Rogers in a well outlined talk told of the shortcomings of the present banking system and its hold upon the country. She expressed the opinion that the banks' keep money scarce purposely and therefore depressions follow from time to time as money is called in or destroyed by the system. She felt that money had ceased to function as a mechanism of exchange and that the world in general, and this province in particular, was ready for a change in this respect.

She claimed that the banks on a note issue of $141,000,000 had loaned $1,148,000,000. In fact 96 percent of all business was done on credit or cheques. She said that the banks never lose, but the people always do. People today who are losing money should study Social Credit and find a way out of their difficulties. Her opinion was that the bankers controlled the press and that the press in turn according to instructions from the bankers befuddled the people and kept them in ignorance of the true facts. The new Central Bank was only a branch of the international bankers and as such was no better than the rest.

Her address led up to the main topic of the evening, Social Credit, which was handled by Mr. Unwin.

Mr. Unwin gave an outline of the Douglas System of Social Credit as applied to the province of Alberta, the plan having been worked out by Wm. Aberhart of Calgary.

The speaker first gave a brief account of our present economic and social troubles and pointed out that by a series of eliminations the basic cause was undoubtedly proven to be in the financial system. There is nothing wrong with production or with transportation, but in spite of this we cannot get the products of our farms and factories into the hands of the people for lack of money with which to buy them.

The Douglas System recognizes the consumer as the important element of the state. We are all consumers. It is necessary to see that everyone has enough purchasing power or credit to provide him with food, clothing and shelter at all times.

To introduce the Douglas System in Alberta the following steps would have to be taken according to the Aberhart plan:

1. All citizens of the province having money in the banks, trust companies, etc., should purchase government bonds bearing 4 percent interest payable in credit.
2. With the money thus obtained the government would pay off all the present bonds and other provincial debts.
3. If there were not enough money to pay off these debts then the citizens would be called upon to transfer the cash surrender values on life insurance policies. There would be no need of life insurance after the plan has been introduced.

4. All bona-fide citizens would receive basic dividends, those, male or female, 18 years or over, would receive $20 per month; children 16 years old $10 per month; and 17 years old $15 per month. These dividends are to be issued in the form of Credits (not money) by a provincial Credit House. They would be the minimum purchasing power that everyone would receive, and any salaries or wages earned would be so much more for the people to spend. No hoarding of money or credit by any citizen should be allowed. All salaries or wages or income from whatever source must be expended by a certain fixed time or any credit that remained unused would be cancelled by the state.

We have not the space this week to go into further details but we hope this will give a general idea of the Plan.

Russia and the League of Nations

The admission of Russia to the League of Nations without any guarantee that she will observe its constitution has shocked the world.

To recall only a few of the things Russia has been doing all these years contrary to the League's ideals: "She has made bitter attacks, not only on Christian religion, but on all religion. Hundreds of thousands of Christian priests have been put to death for no other reason than that they were Christians. Russia, too, has persecuted subversive activities in every country in the world. While her treatment of minorities has been disgraceful, she has treated her people in a fashion which has known no parallel in the lifetime of any of us today. Then why has Russia been given admission to the League of Nations? France wants her in the League to use her as an ally against Germany. Russia wants to join the League because she considers that she will thereby be strengthened against Japan in the fight that she regards as inevitable. What becomes of the idealistic aims of the League of Nations when those are the real reasons for Russia's entry?" —M.E.R.
